

NEWS FROM YOUR LOCAL STOW CONSERVATION TRUST

Did you know that Stow has lots of conservation land that is open and available to enjoy by all? With the crisp autumn days upon us, now is the time to visit our trails and enjoy the great outdoors.

Every month, the Stow Conservation Trust will highlight a trail you might want to try. The Stow Conservation Trust is an all-volunteer nonprofit that's been working hard to preserve land in Stow since 1977. We'll start with one of our smallest gems.

Leggett is a short walk in the woods with some unexpected finds such as a music station for small children and a large "wolf" oak tree – larger than the rest because at one time it was in the middle of a field. Pick up the scavenger hunt sheet at the trail head entrance written by Stow Girl Scouts working on their gold project.

When you visit, please take pix and link them from your Instagram account to #Stowsct.

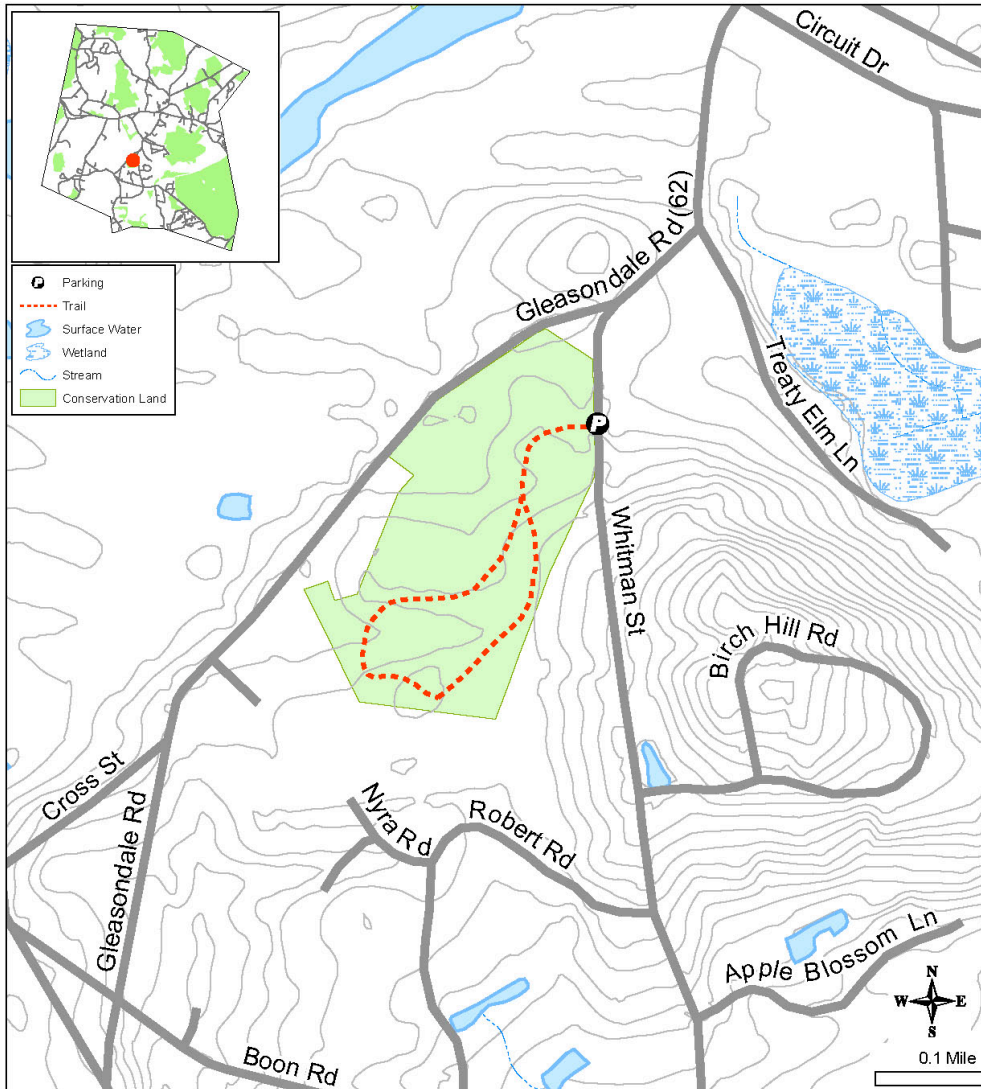

Let us know your thoughts about preserving our land and what it means to you. We want to hear from students and families. The youth of today will be the conservationists of tomorrow!!

If you'd like to register personal comments or ask how you can volunteer, please reach us at:

stowconservationtrust.info@gmail.com

Leggett Woodland

While conservation lands are open to all, their continued beauty relies on the participation of all hikers. Please stay on the trails and carry out anything you carry in.

Details:

- Parking is on Whitman St. just off Rte. 62/Gleasondale Rd.
- The main loop trail is under 1 mile.
- Dogs are welcome; please keep them under voice control.